

Culture Diversity

Lori Holt RN-BC

JUNE 16, 2018

In this course, the attendees will learn cultural considerations when caring for patients – both as the doctor and as an organization. Attendees upon completion will:

Understand the need to learn about the cultures within the community they are providing care for.

Understand the importance of examining themselves and not using their beliefs and cultural prejudices when caring for their patients.

Understand to bridge the gap between themselves and their patients
